

Cooper Standard Reports Second Quarter Results

August 4, 2020

NORTHVILLE, MI / ACCESSWIRE / August 4, 2020 / Cooper-Standard Holdings Inc. (NYSE:CPS) today reported results for the second quarter 2020.

Second Quarter 2020 Summary

- Sales totaled $340.5 million, significantly impacted by industry-wide shutdowns
- Net loss of $134.2 million or $(7.93) per diluted share
- Adjusted EBITDA of $(93.8) million or (27.5) percent of sales
- Adjusted net loss of $111.8 million or $(6.61) per diluted share
- Strong cash balance of $388.0 million at quarter end
- Contract awards related to the Company's innovation products totaled $54 million

"We are continuing to ramp-up our global operations following the extended industry-wide shutdown," said Jeffrey Edwards, chairman and CEO, Cooper Standard. "After more than two months of lost production, the restart of operations has gone extremely well. The extensive new health and safety protocols we have implemented in all our facilities are enabling us to maintain a world-class, safe working environment for our employees as we increase production levels to meet growing customer demand."

Adjusted EBITDA	$ (93.8)	$ 58.0	$ (85.5)	$ 122.1

The year-over-year change in second quarter sales was primarily attributable to customers idling operations in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as other unfavorable volume and mix, primarily in North America and Europe.

Net loss for the second quarter 2020 included non-cash impairment charges related to assets held for sale in the amount of $12.4 million, certain project costs related to assets held for sale of $1.8 million and restructuring charges related to headcount reduction actions of $9.8 million and other special items. Net income for the second quarter 2019 included a gain on the sale of the Company's AVS business in the amount of $189.9 million as well as restructuring charges of $5.9 million and other impairment charges of $2.2 million. Adjusted net (loss) income, which excludes these items and their related tax impact, was $(111.8) million in the second quarter 2020 compared to $5.3 million in the second quarter of 2019. The decline was due largely to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, other unfavorable volume and mix and general inflation, partially offset by $21.0 million of operating efficiencies, $6.0 million in lower SGA&E expense and other cost saving initiatives.

Adjusted net income (loss), adjusted EBITDA and adjusted earnings (loss) per diluted share are non-GAAP measures. Reconciliations to the most directly comparable financial measures, calculated and presented in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("U.S. GAAP"), are provided in the attached supplemental schedules.

COVID-19 Pandemic Impact on Operations

The COVID-19 pandemic had a significant negative impact on our industry and on our operations during the second quarter. The second quarter impact on our sales was approximately $380 million and the impact on adjusted EBITDA was approximately $130 million. Our automotive operations in Europe and North America were almost all closed beginning in early to mid-March and remained closed until late May or early June. We experienced and continue to face delays in the timing of certain new program launches. Most of these delays have ranged from six to eight weeks from originally planned dates. We anticipate continued variability in our launch schedules for the remainder of the year.

During the broad global shutdown, our Advanced Technology Group (ATG) operations remained open, working at reduced capacity, to support critical infrastructure businesses in markets such as commercial trucking, military and defense, fire and emergency, and grocery store suppliers. In addition, certain of our plants ran limited operations to produce customized components for medical ventilators and personal protective equipment (PPE). All of our plants have now been re-opened and have begun ramping up production in alignment with customer demand. At the end of June, our production volumes globally were at approximately 70 percent of the levels that had been anticipated prior to the global pandemic.

New Business Awards

During the second quarter of 2020, the Company received new business awards related to product innovations, totaling approximately $54 million in anticipated future annualized sales, including both new and replacement business. These awards are related to the Company's commercialized innovation products such as MagAlloy™, Gen III Posi-Lock™, Easy-Lock™, EPDM Microdense and TP Microdense, and are based on customer forecast volumes. Additionally, the Company has introduced new technologies through our I³ innovation process that are supporting future pursuits with Fortrex™, FlushSeal, TUROST™, PC2000™ and next generation connection technologies. As a result of the cancellation of certain customer programs, net new business awards were not significant in the quarter.

Continuing Execution of Cost Reduction and Strategic Initiatives

The Company remains focused on reducing ongoing costs through improved operating efficiency and the further rightsizing of its operating footprint and overhead expenses. As previously announced, two manufacturing facilities were scheduled to be closed in 2020. During the second quarter, an additional technical facility was added to the list of planned closures in 2020. One of the manufacturing plant closures has been completed. The closure of the second manufacturing facility and the technical facility are on track to be completed later this year.

Subsequent to the end of the second quarter, the Company finalized the divestiture of certain non-strategic assets and operations in India and Europe. In 2019, these operations had combined revenue of approximately $200 million, adjusted EBITDA loss of approximately $(14) million and negative cash flow of approximately $(20) million. As a result, the transaction is expected to be immediately accretive to future Company earnings and cash flow. This transaction was consistent with the Company's stated strategic guideline to fix or exit unprofitable businesses.

* Net of customer price reductions

- Volume and mix, net of customer price reductions, almost entirely is driven by the decline in vehicle production volume as a result of government imposed global shutdowns related to the COVID-19 pandemic.
- The impact of foreign currency exchange is driven by the Euro, Mexican Peso, Canadian Dollar, Chinese Renminbi, Brazilian Real, Polish Zloty, and Czech Koruna.
- The Cost (Increases) / Decreases category above includes:
 - Reduction in compensation-related expenses, purchasing savings through lean initiatives, restructuring savings;
 - Wage increases; and
 - Net manufacturing efficiencies of $21 million, weakened by the impact of COVID-19, primarily driven by our European, North America and Asia Pacific segments.

A reconciliation of net loss to adjusted EBITDA is included in the "Reconciliations of Non-GAAP Measures" section of this release.

Cash and Liquidity

At June 30, 2020, Cooper Standard had cash and cash equivalents totaling $388.0 million. In addition to cash and cash equivalents, the Company had $31.8 million available under its amended senior asset-based revolving credit facility ("ABL"), inclusive of outstanding letters of credit, for total liquidity of $419.8 million at June 30, 2020. The quarter-end cash balance included the net proceeds of $241 million from the senior secured notes the Company issued in May and was in-line with the Company's cash forecast and expectations as it managed through the COVID-19 related shutdown.

The borrowing base of the ABL is derived from the Company's receivables and inventory in the United States and Canada. These working capital balances were reduced as production, sales and shipments were halted during the industry-wide, COVID-19 related shutdown. As production, sales and shipments have resumed in North America, the Company anticipates that its receivables balances, and by extension, the borrowing base and availability under its ABL will increase during the second half of the year.

Outlook

Based on our current expectations for light vehicle production and customer demand for our products, we expect our current strong cash balance and increasing access to flexible credit facilities will provide sufficient resources to support ongoing operations and the execution of planned strategic initiatives for the next 12 months.

Non-GAAP Measures

EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss), adjusted earnings (loss) per share, net debt and free cash flow are measures not recognized under U.S. GAAP and which exclude certain non-cash and special items that may obscure trends and operating performance not indicative of the Company's core financial activities. Management considers EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss), adjusted earnings (loss) per share, net debt and free cash flow to be key indicators of the Company's operating performance and believes that these and similar measures are widely used by investors, securities analysts and other interested parties in evaluating the Company's performance. In addition, similar measures are utilized in the calculation of the financial covenants and ratios contained in the Company's financing arrangements and management uses these measures for developing internal budgets and forecasting purposes. EBITDA is defined as net income (loss) adjusted to reflect income tax expense (benefit), interest expense net of interest income, depreciation and amortization, and adjusted EBITDA is defined as EBITDA further adjusted to reflect certain items that management does not consider to be reflective of the Company's core operating performance. Adjusted net income (loss) is defined as net income (loss) adjusted to reflect certain items that management does not consider to be reflective of the Company's core operating performance. Adjusted basic and diluted earnings (loss) per share is defined as adjusted net income (loss) divided by the weighted average number of basic and diluted shares, respectively, outstanding during the period. Net debt is defined as total debt minus cash and cash equivalents. Free cash flow is defined as net cash provided by operating activities minus capital expenditures and is useful to both management and investors in evaluating the Company's ability to service and repay its debt.

When analyzing the Company's operating performance, investors should use EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss), adjusted earnings (loss) per share, net debt and free cash flow as supplements to, and not as alternatives for, net income (loss), operating income, or any other performance measure derived in accordance with U.S. GAAP, and not as an alternative to cash flow from operating activities as a measure of the Company's liquidity. EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss), adjusted earnings (loss) per share, net debt and free cash flow have limitations as analytical tools and should not be considered in isolation or as substitutes for analysis of the Company's results of operations as reported under U.S. GAAP. Other companies may report EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss), adjusted earnings (loss) per share, net debt and free cash flow differently and therefore the Company's results may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures of other companies. In addition, in evaluating adjusted EBITDA and adjusted net income (loss), it should be noted that in the future the Company may incur expenses similar to or in excess of the adjustments in the below presentation. This presentation of adjusted EBITDA and adjusted net income (loss) should not be construed as an inference that the Company's future results will be unaffected by special items. Reconciliations of EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted net income (loss) and free cash flow follow.
